

Assessing the impact of ISO 15489: the first international standard for records management

Project funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC)

Grant No. RG/AR16349

Date: 2003 to 2005

Project personnel:

Dr Julie McLeod, Reader in RM

Sue Childs, Research Fellow

Susan Ferguson

Contact details:

Information Society Research & Consultancy Group

School of Computing, Engineering and Information Sciences

Northumbria University

Pandon Building

Camden St

Newcastle upon Tyne NE2 1XE

Tel: 0191 227 3764

Fax: 0191 243 7630

Email: julie.mcleod@northumbria.ac.uk

Project Publications

(in reverse chronological order)

McLeod J, Childs S (2005). Assessing the impact of ISO 15489: the first international standard for records management in the UK. Final project report October 2005.

Newcastle upon Tyne, School of Computing, Engineering and Information Sciences, Northumbria University. Available at <http://www.northumbria.ac.uk/isrc>

McLeod J (2005). Using the ISO 15489 standard: strategic step or sterile selection? Records Management Conventie Seminar, 9 June 2005, Utrecht. (Unpublished)

<http://www.rmconventie.nl/index.php>

Ferguson S, McLeod J (2004). Should ISO 15489 be a compliance standard? Records Management Bulletin, (122):17-19

McLeod J, Ferguson S (2004). Assessing the impact of ISO 15489: the first International Standard for Records Management. Records Management Bulletin, (118):35

McLeod J (2004). Assessing the impact of ISO 15489 in practice. Early indications from the UK. 15th International Congress on Archives, Vienna, Austria, 23-29 August 2004. <http://www.wien2004.ica.org/fo/index.php>

McLeod J (2004). ISO 15489: helpful, hype or just not hot? Archives & Manuscripts, 32(2):90-113

Ferguson, S. (2003). The impact of ISO 15489 in the UK. Presentation at the Records Management Society London Regional Circle Meeting, 2 December 2003. (Presentation unpublished). Zohra F (2004). Meeting Report. RMS Newsletter, (71)