

British Academy Visiting Fellow

Cheryl McEwan, with the assistance of Nina Laurie and Matt Baillie Smith, submitted a successful application to the British Academy Visiting Fellowships Competition on behalf of Dr Lilian Nabulime. Lilian completed her PhD in Fine Art at Newcastle University in 2007 and has been a DARN Associate since then. She is currently Lecturer and Acting Head of the Sculpture Department, School of Industrial and Fine Art, Makerere University, Uganda. Her doctoral research develops a sculptural art form that can be used to provide support to women in Uganda with experiences of HIV/AIDS and to raise awareness of disease prevention. Lilian will be visiting for 3 months from September 2009. She will be based primarily at Durham and will be collaborating with DARN members to disseminate her work beyond the fine arts audience.
